

Privacy Policy

Like all organisations, we are obliged to take proper care of your personal data under the Data Protection Act. In the case of the Club, we don't keep very much information about you, and it has always been our policy to respect confidential and personal information. For the Club to comply with its requirements under the Act, it is necessary that all members know what information we hold about you on our computers, and what we do with it.

What we keep

- Your name, address, phone and fax number, e-mail address, membership number, collecting interests, subscription status (e.g. UK/non-UK, Family or individual membership) date of joining, last date of payment and amount of subscriptions
- We also keep this information on ex-members for up to two years after they leave the Club, but will delete it promptly on request.
- We also keep this information on recent enquirers / prospective members.

What we do with the information

- Mailings to you of journals and correspondence by the Club nationally, and it's Regions.
- Publication of all members' contact details, membership number and collecting interests in the annual Members Handbook. This is sent to all members, but is not available from the Club to any non-member. (see confidentiality notice on cover of this Handbook)
- Allocation of individuals to Regions.
- Preparation of statistics, reports, etc. for internal management purposes.
- We may be obliged to share your data with our bankers, but solely for the purpose of enabling them to meet their legal obligations under the Money Laundering, Terrorist Financing and Transfer of Funds Regulations 2017.

We do not

- Sell or give names and addresses to any other person or organisation.
